

Award Winning Manuscripts

The University of Toronto Medical Journal (UTMJ) was established in 1923 and is Canada's oldest student-run medical journal. We strive to uphold the UTMJ's legacy of excellence by publishing interesting and timely research articles for our esteemed readers. Trainees continue to be important contributors to many of the research articles published by the UTMJ. We recognize the value in student-led research and are proud to serve as an outlet for this work. The UTMJ has established three awards to acknowledge outstanding submissions from trainees in each of our issues. We would like to congratulate the following award winners for the current issue on Vaccines and Immunity:

First Prize

HIV risk in African, Caribbean and Black youth: perceptions of community leaders in the Windsor-Sussex Region

Carlos Khalil, Rachel Goldfarb, Robb Traver, Todd Coleman, and ACBY Study Team

Second Prize

Distribution of microglial activation status in the substantia nigra of control, incidental Lewy Body Disease and Parkinson's Disease cases

Lennart H. van der Molen, Veerle M.J.M. van Lieshout, John G.J.M Bol, Evelien Timmermans-Huisman, Anne-Marie van Dam, Benjamin Drukarch, and Micha M.M. Wilhelmus

Third Prize

Analyzing the impact of onsite vs. offsite lectures on medical student lecture participation: case study of the University of Toronto Faculty of Medicine

Klaudiusz Stoklosa, Christina Ding, and Bobby Yanagawa

These awards would not be possible without the continued support of the University of Toronto Medical Society and generous donations from our readers. Please consider supporting the UTMJ so that we can further our efforts to promote student research, publish impactful articles and grow our readership. UTMJ would like to thank the following patrons for their support:
